SHOULD NOT MORTGAGE FUTURE TO BUILD ROADS

Judge McIlvaine Speaks to Grand Jury of Highways

AN IMPORTANT RULING

When Township Road is Approved County Assumes Entire Burden

Stating that it was not expedient to approve the building of county roads before the county has the funds to pay for them, Judge J. A. McIlvaine in charging the grand jury at Washington Monday in regard to petitions for the improvement of roads costing in the aggregate more than $500,000 gave a point of law that has not heretofore been considered in the improvement of county roads. This is that when the county approves the reconstruction of a road it becomes a county road, and the township is thus relieved of the care and repair of the road. As the county has approved permanent improvements, it cannot make temporary repairs, and as the township is relieved from the care of the road, the highway must remain unimproved until such time as the county can make the permanent improvements.

For this reason Judge McIlvaine states that the county has no right to mortgage the future, by approving road construction which cannot be made for lack of funds for many years hence. Such roads can neither be repaired by county or township, and this imposes an intolerable condition. Judge McIlvaine further stated that it is unfair for the court to approve roads that cannot be constructed until 15 or 20 years hence. He also stated that many of the petitioners were desirous to have roads improved because they passed by their property, but that should not influence action to the detriment of the economic welfare of the county and taxpayers.

Four roads were considered Monday. They were the Bentleyville-Ginger Hill, Finleyville-Gastonsville, McClurray and Bulger-Cherry Valley roads. Representatives from these various communities were heard.

The question of petitions for more county bridges will also be considered by the grand jury after the road petitions are disposed of.

TESTIMONY FILED IN DIVORCE CASES

The testimony in three divorce cases was filed for record with Prothonotary Lewis at Washington Monday. They are of the case of M. Jennie Sampson versus John W. Sampson of Washington, Ola Singleton versus Russell Singleton of Washington and Margaret Jane Dack versus George Alfred Dack of Carroll township.

Arrest Made for Shooting

Man Supposed to Have Fired Bullet at Terino, Placed Under Lock and Key

On the charge of shooting Marino Terino, Antonio Garosalo is in jail at Monessen, pending an information to be made by Terino. It is alleged that he with two or three other Italians went into the store of Terino Monday and on the pretense that they had come to buy something insulted the proprietor. Terino started out to look for a policeman and it is said one of the men pulled a gun and fired, shooting Terino in the foot. They are said to have fled and Garosalo was captured near Belle Vernon.

NO MORE BOOZE ON "BUMMER"

Prohibition to be Rule on Marianna Mid-night Train

IS RIOT PREVENTIVE

There are to be no more hot times 'o nights on the Marianna "bummer," that is the train up the Marianna and Ellsworth branch of the Pennsylvania railroad that leaves Monongahela at 10.45 each night. This is the train that the Monongahela merchants exercised their influence to have installed, as it gave passengers up the branch a chance to come to the town to do trading and get home the same night.

The crowds came all right, but a large element does not confine its purchases to groceries and dry goods. Many load up with booze, and the journey home is usually one of continuous riot and disorder. This is aggravated on the pay days and so many not only carried a package inside but loaded up with bottles and kegs and cases besides, that Supt. A. G. Mitchell of the Monongahela division has issued an order not to permit any one carrying packages of booze to ride the trains. The carrying of kegs, bottles and cases in the baggage car as for passengers, it is said, is also forbidden, and passengers are not permitted aboard who are visibly intoxicated.

For some time past Pennsylvania railroad detectives of this division have been assigned to the Marianna branch to ride on the "bummer" Saturdays and pay days in order to help the train men preserve order.

SURVEYORS BEGIN ON BENTLEYVILLE LINE

Start Preliminary Work on New Trolley Route Through Borough--Will Also Survey Connecting Link

Preliminary survey work was begun this morning at Bentleyville on the proposed new Westside Street railway route to lead through that borough. As rapidly as possible this part of the preliminary work will be done and then the survey made of the route leading from Charleroi to Bentleyville.

When Bentleyville borough granted a franchise by ordinance to the Westside Street Railways company to build lines through the borough and maintain service it was stated that this spring if possible actual construction work would start. The presence of engineers on the ground confirms this statement.

After the surveys are made a certain amount of red tape will be necessary before even the first part of the construction of the new line can be gotten under way. It is proposed to start grading at Bentleyville and on the route to lead from here to Bentleyville at about the same time so that the entire line can be completed within the briefest possible period.

TELLS CONSTABLES BETTER LOOK AGAIN

Judge Doty in Westmoreland Determined Not to Permit Any Blindmen's Parade--Must Get the Information

Judge Doty of the Westmoreland county court, will have no blindmen's parades in connection with the constables' returns. At the meeting of the grand jury at Greensburg last week when the constables met to present their quarterly returns with nothing to report as usual when asked if there were any violations of the liquor laws in their respective districts, Judge Doty is said to have waxed exceedingly wroth.

Stating that he knew better, and that letters had been received by the court complaining of such violations in various parts of the county, the judge ordered the constables to go back, get the information, and then appear and make the proper returns.

Judge Doty also informed the constables that they are compelled by act of Assembly to make return of every person who sold liquor in their districts, licensed or unlicensed, and that a failure to do so carried with it a penalty of fine and imprisonment. He further stated that he proposed to see that the provisions of this act are enforced hereafter in the Westmoreland county courts.

CHORAL CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Will Give Concert Night Before Sunday School Convention Opens

PROF. DANIEL DIRECTOR

An organization of a choral union for a concert to be given previous to the Sunday School convention of the Washington county association here next June was effected at a meeting held in the M. E. church Monday evening. Arrangements were made to begin work immediately for the concert.

Officers of the organization were elected as follows: President, Dr. C. C. Wright; vice president, Miss Mildred Lowstutter; secretary, Miss Helen Woodhall; treasurer, Prof. I. T. Daniel; chief accompanist, Miss May Barth; first assistant accompanist, Miss Elsie Crill; second assistant accompanist, Miss Bethel Bowman; third assistant accompanist Miss Leila Orange.

Prof. I. T. Daniel, music supervisor in the schools, had previously agreed to direct the choir, which it was arranged would start work rehearsing next Monday evening at the M. E. church. It is proposed to give a concert on the night preceding the opening of the Sunday School convention in the big tent for which a contract was recently closed by the executive committee of the district.

County Preservers of the Peace to Organize--May Ask More Milage

While making their returns to court last week the constables of Washington county have arranged for a convention at the county seat on February 24. These officers believe they do not receive large enough fees, and are particularly dissatisfied with their milage. This is six cents a mile and the constables believe they should receive at least ten cents. It is the intention to organize for the purpose of working for better conditions.

Two Charleroi Youths Sent to Huntingdon Reformatory

COURT DISCHARGES ONE

Pleading guilty to a serious offense against morality in criminal court at Washington Monday George and Adam Patrick of Charleroi, aged 18 and 16 years respectively, were sentenced to the Huntingdon reformatory. George Zippay, who was indicted for the same offense, was released, the case having been nolle prossed. All the cases listed for trial Monday were disposed of before the court adjourned for the day.

Three cases set for trial were continued. They were the prosecution against Joseph Eberich of Donora, charged with resisting an officer and David F. Mathers, a constable of North Charleroi, charged with assault and battery and Charles Chester of Charleroi, charged with assault and battery. The three cases grew out of an effort on the part of Mathers, assisted by Chester to levy upon and take charge of a store of the defendant, Eberich at Donora.

Louis Sibenski and Mary Snier of Donora pleaded guilty to crimes against morality. The man was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and costs and undergo four months' imprisonment in the workhouse on one count, and on another he was fined $5 and costs and directed to pay the woman $2.50 a week for six years for the

Poor Board Petitions Grand Jury to Build Institution

MILVAINE APPROVES

President Judge Speaks of Need in Charge--Hearing Wednesday Morning

The matter of an insane hospital for Washington county was laid before the grand jury at Washington Monday by Judge J. A. McIlvaine on petition of the county poor directors, H. D. Browneller, Dr. R. W. Wolfe and R. C. Buchanan, and County Commissioners Thomas Hill, John A. Berry and A. P. Barnum presented to the court by James P. Eagleson, attorney for the directors of the poor. Judge McIlvaine addressed the grand jury and impressed upon them the need of such an institution. The petition itself recited many facts relative to the success of other institutions in the State. The grand jury decided not to go into the matter of building such an institution until this morning at 10 o'clock.

A representative of the State board of charities, William Theuer, came to Washington Monday night and upon learning the local situation immediately wired Dr. Frank Woodbury, of Philadelphia, an expert in such affairs, to come to Washington and address the grand jury today. Francis J. Torrance, of Pittsburg, of this board, is in Detroit and will not be able to be present. The county controller and others vitally interested in the welfare of the indigent insane will go before the grand jury in this matter.

It is a consensus of opinion that an insane hospital ought to be built. Reports go to show that such an institution would not only pay but might be operated at a profit to the taxpayers of the county.

CRACKS IN THE FOUNDATION.

What Thomas Carlyle termed
"Cracks in the Foundation," in describing conditions that led up to the French Revolution—that terrible deluge of blood and fire that marked the greatest human epoch since the coming of Christ—are beginning to be perceived in the foundations of our own social edifice. Judge E. H.
Gary chairman of the executive committee of the United States Steel corporation, expresses himself as fearful that the great unrest that prevails in this country may bring on another deluge like the French Revolution, and cause a "mob" to make changes unless the capitalists take the lead in a movement to better humanity. In an after dinner
speech recently Judge Gary said:

"There is a general feeling of unrest not only in the United States, but through the entire world. Its results, I believe, first from the fact that the means of communication between places have been steadily increasing; secondly, this feeling is due to the demagogue—whether he be a so-called statesman or a newspaper owner—who is disposed to appeal to the prejudices of what he regards as the masses, in order to advance his own particular interests.

"There are things being said openly nowadays that were said just before the French Revolution. There is grave danger, in my opinion, of stirring this spark into a flame. And I do not want to be understood in saying this as flying a flag of distress.
Unless the men of highest influence in this country take the lead in a movement to better humanity generally there will be at some time changes, good or bad made by the mob."

It was a number of years before the mutterings that preceded the French Revolution burst into the storm. There are now just as surely cracks in the foundation, and unless they are mended the whole social super-structure will be endangered later on.

PENROSE SOUNDS ALARM.

United States Senator Boies Penrose has sounded an alarm to the people of the country against possible political upheaval. Senator Penrose believes the interests of the entire country and especially the best interests of Pennsylvania are menaced by the possible enactment of the Underwood tariff bill and he pleads
with the Republicans to get together for a war against the vicious legislation. Among other things Senator Penrose says:

"The Underwood bill affects industries valued at billions of dollars and employing more than a million workers. It is only one of a series of tariff bills planned to be passed by the Democratic House of Representatives all of which are not altogether unlikely to be passed by the Senate."

After reviewing the conditions which Senator Penrose regards as sluggish and dangerous he concludes:
"It is altogether possible that a rude awakening caused by a political upheaval may be necessary to bring about a realization of this great danger by all American employers and employees."

The wage-earner and the wage-payer is equally concerned. When before the Congressional Committee
last week, Charles M. Schwab said:
"After all my work and the investment of my fortune, I have never taken a penny out of the industry and have never paid a dividend, and if the proposed tariff is to be the law,
I repeat that I shall cash in. I haven't made sufficient profit to feel justified in taking money out of the industry."

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"I read with much amusement your account of 'how to secure wet goods
in a dry town.'" said a pioneer citizen a day or two ago. "I was one of the bunch at Washington that 'inementioned' in the 'Picked Up in Passing' column, when the Charleroi crowd at court found cases of beer that were mysteriously placed in their room—No. 16. As I only drank ice-tea the liquid refreshments did not concern me. However, there was a sequel to that story. 'The most of us were witnesses on a case from the valley where a valley attorney and a Uniontown attorney fought a bitter legal fight, which the valley attorney lost out, and it was he who further instructed us in the modus operandi
of getting wet goods in a dry town."

"We were packed up ready to start home at the end of the trial, when
in came the attorney to pay his respects to us. The last bottle of 'suds' had been consumed, and some of the bunch expressed their regrets that there was nothing left for hospitality.

"How much time have you before your train leaves?" asked the attorney.

"When told an hour yet, he beckoned to me, and following him we went to the local express office.

"Have you a package for—
"—he asked of a young lady in charge. She was not sure but would see. Calling a male attache of the office the question was repeated.
"No package here for you," said
the young man. "But wait a moment.
Where was the package to be shipped from?"

"From Wheeling," replied my legal friend.

"Just wait until I look," replied
the expressman. "The stuff that came in this morning hasn't been entered yet."

"Going to another room he returned with a package in his hand and
said:

"Here it is, C. O. D., $125
charges."

"This was paid, and returning to the room the porter was called and procuring a bowl of sugar, a pitcher of hot water and some nutmeg, the package from Wheeling was made to dispense some congenial cheer.

"This happened 12 years or more
ago, and the valley attorney is no longer in this section. This modus operandi of the thirsty, I've been told, has also been abolished."

"Go down to the West Penn Electric company's office and get half a dozen wire Tungsten electric bulbs," said the business manager of the the girl there wants to know what

"What watt do you want?" asked the office boy.

"What watt?" answered the business manager, "why 25 watts."

How the Doctor Got His Fee

"No daughter of mine shall ever marry a son of old Wilton's," thundered Francis Halbert's irate father. "A son isn't to blame for his father's mistakes," answered Francis. "You always maintain your disbelief in hereditary traits."

"In this case I believe that Clarence has or will inherit all his father's ways. He has never ever buried a patient, much less cured one."

"How can he when he hasn't the chance? They either send for old Dr. Corbin or take such good care of themselves that a doctor is a minus quantity in this town."

"Well, he has a quantity of nerve to ask for my daughter and that 'No' is final."

"But, father, didn't you marry mother in opposition to her family wishes?"

"Hush, child! Times were different in those days," said Mr. Halbert. That evening Mrs. Halbert complained to her husband:

"Why are you so obstinate, then? case; never have you refused to let your daughter the smallest trifling thing that this love has come into her life. You talk as if she were a guilty of some great offense. Don't you notice how thin and languid she is looking? She is grieving herself to death."

"Over that Wilson fellow, I'm imposed. Send her to the seashore and she'll return rosy and gay. If she didn't see him every day she'd never think of that idiotic physician. He couldn't prescribe for my pet canary."

"He wouldn't," answered Mrs. Halbert. Francis told me that after you spoke to him in that abrupt manner, he said he would never come near the house again until you sent for him."

Francis joined some friends at the seashore and from the tone of her letters, her father felt more than justified in having urged her to leave home.

On the fourth day the following telegram was received at the Halbert home:

"Am quarantined here. Bad case of diphtheria in hotel. Don't worry. Feel fine."

Mr. and Mrs. Halbert tried not to be anxious, but they could hardly wait the hour until the daily message arrived.

"Still quarantined," Mrs. Halbert read on the sixth day. Hotel physician takes every precaution. Not lonely."

"Put yourself under doctor's care. Do exactly as he says," Mr. Halbert wired his daughter.

It seemed from the rest of the telegrams that Francis was enjoying her enforced isolation and there evidently was no danger of contagion as the doctor watched her closely, was often her partner at bridge and accompanied her on long walks.

"He's most likely some old fatherly practitioner who took pity on her," commented her father. "If I had searched the world over, could I have devised any better scheme for keeping Francis away from Wilson. Especially as she is enjoying herself in a first-class hotel."

"Thank the doctor for his kindness," he wrote after he received word that Francis would leave on the following day. "Invite him to visit us on your return, when I will thank him in person and pay for his services whatever amount he states."

"Dear Father," was the answer a few hours later. "Dr. Wilson accompanies me home on your invitation to ask as payment for his services your consent to our marriage."

"Goodness! Gracious!" ejaculated the surprised father. "My patience is exhausted, but if he takes such good care of his patients that he is physician in a big hotel, I suppose I might as well give in, otherwise Francis will most likely follow her parents' example and elope. There must be something in hereditary traits."

Airgrams Sent by Aviators.

A very remarkable result was that attending the effort of two French officers who succeeded in sending wireless messages a considerable distance while flying about in the vicinity of Paris. They were maneuvering in aeroplanes the other day in the neighborhood of Rambouillet and communicated with the Eiffel tower, 30 miles distant, a feat of great importance. From this foothold greater results can be attained and future possibilities, in the event of a war, can hardly be predicted by those having the most vivid power of imagination. Had Napoleon been possessed of such a distinct advantage he might have saved the day at Waterloo and thus perpetuated the map of Europe as he had so vastly changed it instead of becoming a prisoner in exile to mourn on the Island of St. Helena the loss of his great power to make or unmake nations.

The Obscure Expert.

"The people who do the real work are not always conspicuous," said the ready-made philosopher.

"That's right," replied the man with the frivolous hat. "The best photographer at a picnic always has to manage the camera and never gets into the picture."

If She Had Returned Earlier—

"Why, John, how neat you have kept the flat while I have been away!"

"Yes, dear; see that bilater I got on my hand while sweeping and dusting this morning?"

GOWNS MADE SIMPLE

WEDDING GARMENTS ARE NOT MARKED BY SPLENDOR.

Many Novelties Have Been Evolved by the Modistes to Give Distinctive Styles to the Dresses of the Season.

Of the making of wedding gowns there is no end at this moment, and all tastes seem to have agreed upon simple fabrics, whatever the grandeur or simplicity of the gown. No texture can be used that falls stiffly, so if there is a court train this, too, is of the softest satin of silk, lined and wadded for body.

Satin charmeuse, which is a smooth-faced, crushable material of uncommon beauty, is much used, this lending itself to a certain maiden sweetness that seems most appropriate for brides. Every species of lace is used with this fabric and with all others, and used in vast quantities, too, and if the dress texture is diaphanous—for there are many frocks entirely of lace, or of chiffon or embroidered gauze—there may be narrow garlands of orange blossoms on both the bodice and skirt. Chalk-white is a new tone for altar materials, and a gauze in this may be entirely without buster.

In striving for new and novel cuts, fashion has been a little crazy, must be confessed, though despite the promptings of common sense some her madresses seem delightfully active. For instance, a wedding dress lately made for a bride-elect, was a train in two distinct points, and one of these longer than the other! The train was cut up in a V in the back, the two side pieces were then gathered and trimmed each with a big flat rosette. Yet funny as it was, this was most pleasing, though the idea is not one likely to be followed by many brides.

Occasionally, a bride decides upon a one-piece frock for traveling, and though the choice is by no means popular such costumes go best with the dashing long coats which are so useful for the honeymoon trip, and which look so well on many slim young figures.

One such traveling frock was made after the design illustrated which depicts a dress of novelty wool in blue and black, trimmed with a bit of old red velvet and buttons covered with the same.

The tucked bodice of this costume is very pretty and youthful and the rear view of the style shows how easily a high guimpe and longer undersleeves will transform it into a prim street effect. But if made high it would be well to have the stock adjustable, for the collarless effect is somewhat more dressy for the train or boat dinners, when a little fixing up is in order and it is not possible to change the costume.

The jabot frill of the bodice is of cream embroidered batiste, and the skirt model with its narrow front and back panel is one used as much for the house as for the street. Indeed, the pretty model is adapted to a number of little frocks in various materials, and if the bride marries late in October, there is still time to pick up useful bargains in pretty summer materials. All of the darker foulards and thin silks and the cotton and wool veilings in pale or quiet colors would develop charming house gowns in this style.

Hooks on a Wash Dress.

When using hooks and eyes to fasten a wash dress, try sewing the hooks on the under flap and the eyes on the upper, instead of the usual way. You will find that with this method the lap of your gown that shows most can be ironed flat and will have no unsightly humps where the hooks are underneath.

Consulting Mme. Fantella

"Again and again I've addressed you," remarked Grace, "while you've been staring and gazing at that calendar. Aren't there enough days in the month to suit you?"

"Certainly, but this is the 15th of October—one of vital importance to me."

"What's so special about it?"

"About three weeks ago," answered Juliette, her face beaming with smiles and her eyes glistening with expectancy, "I consulted a clairvoyant, Madame Fantella."

"Madame Fantella used to sew for us," interrupted Grace.

"Not this one. She is simply marvelous, predicts miraculous events and gives you the most wonderful dates."

"For instance?" asked Grace, dubiously.

"At the age of sixty-nine I will meet with a serious illness, but will recover."

"I hope you will have recovered your senses by that time and not believe in every fake fortune teller or palmist."

"I'm not superstitious, but on this very date she prophesied that a tall dark young man would invite me to the theater and come what may, under no condition should I refuse, as he would propose."

"Who is the tall dark, mysterious gent?"

"Why, Charles Charleston, of course, whose invitation I accepted immediately for tonight."

"Astounding! Surprising! Charles always seemed a confirmed bachelor to me," exclaimed Grace. "He is so attentive to all the girls."

"Little did I think I would be the fortunate one. How the girls will envy me, the wife of such a handsome, cultured, clever lawyer," said Juliette in a delighted, blissful tone.

When Charles called for Juliette that evening, he found her waiting for him looking as pretty as a lily all in white. She greeted him more cordially than ever and seemed to listen intently to even the most trivial remark. All the time she was pondering. "How, when and where will he say those glorious words that can so easily be answered in one little word of three letters?"

"You seem radiant with happiness," Charles commented.

"I'm always happy when I'm with you," she answered as they left the theater, where she had not heard one word of the play.

"Then I'm all the sorer," commented Charles, "to tell you that next week I intend moving to New York."

"Doesn't he think I'd move away," wondered Juliette. "Why, I'd go to the depths of Africa with the man I cared for." Aloud, she managed to ask, "Why?"

"A well-known legal firm want a single young man to look after one department of their business and I have accepted their offer, which means a successful future."

"Accept my congratulations," said Juliette. "But you will not always be single?"

"For a long time to come," explained Charles. "That's the reason I'm nice to all the girls, so none can take my attentions seriously."

"Not even if you admired the girl greatly," asked Juliette, fast losing confidence in Madame Fantella.

"No, because my mother on her death-bed exacted a promise from me that I would not marry until my sisters were married. As the kids are only seven and nine years now, my benedict days are in the dim future."

Charles was so interested in telling about his run of affairs and prospects that he failed to notice how listless and weary Juliette was.

"I shall never forget what a pleasant evening I spent," he said as he left her.

"I'll never forget it either," thought Juliette, tearing the calendar to shreds. "That I have wasted three weeks of my life thinking, hoping and dreaming of that conceited fool! Madame Fantella is certainly wonderful in predicting occurrences that don't occur."

Eccentric Work Basket.

There are workbags made of turtles. Could anything be odder? And yet they are not unattractive, queer as they sound. The shell of the turtle is lined with some gay silk, and the tail is pulled over and inserted in the mouth, then used as a handle. They make nice sewing baskets, and will undoubtedly appeal to the lovers of the eccentric.

Hard to Live Up To.

An example of greatness thrust upon one is an eleven-year-old boy living in Hamilton avenue, Yonkers. His name is George Washington. He was born on Christmas day and christened on Easter. The lad sings in the choir of St. Andrew's Memorial church.

To Cool Ship's Magazines.

Considerable attention continues to be given to the cooling of magazines on board naval vessels. Various types of refrigerating apparatus have been examined by the ordnance experts. On the new battleships authorized at the last session of congress there will be installed six refrigerating machines, four of which will be used for cooling the magazines.

BACKACHE NOT A DISEASE

But a Symptom, a Danger Signal Which Every Woman Should Heed.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Read about Mrs. Woodall's experience.

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."

—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

ZEMO MAKES ASTONISHING ECZEMA CURES

"We Prove It."

Every day ZEMO gives relief and cures men, women and children in every city and town in America, whose skins are on fire with torturing ECZEMA rashes and other itching, burning, scaly, and crusted skin and scalp humors.

ZEMO and ZEMO (ANTISEPTIC) SOAP, two refined preparations will give you such quick relief that you will feel like a new person.

We give you three reasons why we recommend and endorse ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP for all skin and scalp eruptions.

1st. They are clean, scientific preparations that give universal satisfaction and are pleasant and agreeable to use at all times.

2nd. They are not experiments, but are proven cures for every form of skin or scalp affections whether on infants or grown persons.

3rd. They work on a new principle. They do not glaze over the surface, but they penetrate to the seat of the trouble and draw her germ life from underneath the skin and destroy it. In this way a complete cure is effected in any case of SKIN OR SCALP ERUPTION.

Stubborn Colds May Lead to Consumption

Did you ever have a cold that would not let go; a cough that persisted, that prevented sleep, and made waking hours miserable? Eckman's Alternative is the proper remedy in such cases. Perhaps some simple medicine may be effective where it is only a tickling in the throat; but when your chest is sore and simple remedies don't answer—then take Eckman's Alternative. Neglect often leads to more serious trouble; a case in point follows:

718 Cherry St., Phila., Pa.

"Gentlemen: In July, 1905, I first noticed the conditions that showed I had Consumption. I lost weight rapidly; had a hollow cough, hemorrhages and very severe night sweats. My brother recommended Eckman's Alternative. In the Fall of 1905 I began to take it. At this time I am perfectly well and robust. My appetite is good and my weight has increased from 110 to 140 pounds. Not a trace of my old trouble remains. I will gladly express the merits of this medicine to anyone."

(Signed) M. L. GERHARDT.

Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet of cured cases and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence. For sale by all leading druggists and W. F. Henning, Charleroi, Pa.

A CORROBORATION

Of Interest to Charleroi Readers.

For months Charleroi citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Charleroi residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elapsed if personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? No stronger proof of merit can be had than cures that have stood the test of time. The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Charleroi reader.

Mrs. Brice Ray, 121 Prospect avenue, Charleroi, Pa., says: "I can speak as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills at the present time as when I publicly recommended them in 1907. At that time I told of the great benefit a member of my family received from the use of this remedy, procured at Piper Bros' Drug Store and on several occasions since then, the person referred to has taken it with the best of results."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

MUD ISLANDERS WIN STRUGGLE FROM CHERUBS

Rough Tactics Used to Good Effect in Acquiring Victory

REFEREE GETS LOST

In a melee that would have been creditable to a football game for roughness the alleged basketball five from Mud Island, sometimes called Connellsville for politeness sake, claimed a victory from the Charleroi Cherubs Monday night. The fracas was pulled off with a certain individual by the name of Geisler in the role of superintendent. When the war was over the score stood with the Muddy Islanders rejoicing with 39 points to their credit and the Cherubs consoling themselves with 30 points.

A new lineup was presented by the Coketown aggregation, Dark going to guard and Beggs being sent to forward. The team usually puts up a rough game but this change if anything made it worse. However Jimsey Brown scored first with his only basket of the game, and Jacky Adams followed with a foul. Kummer brought in a couple of foul throws and Adams scored another. A field goal by Kummer, a side wheel affair for which he received a round of applause brought the score up to a tie at four each. Connellsville assumed the lead within the next two minutes and continued leading until the last of the first half when the score was 14 to 13.

For a time after the second half opened the Cherubs occupied the lead and the fans were happy. The moments of grace were limited, for Connellsville forged ahead, entirely by tactics that the referee either could not see, would not see, or refused to mention. The score was tied at 20, 21 and 22. Connellsville acquired the lead again by a field goal of Dark's and kept advancing right along, the open game of the Cherubs having little effect upon the rough going Muds. Cavanaugh threw the last field goal and Adams scored on a foul when time was called. The lineup:

Charleroi 30	Connellsville 39.
Adams.....F.....	Beggs
J. Brown.....F.....	Kummer
Dolin.....C.....	Kavanaugh
A. Brown.....G.....	Dark
Herron.....G.....	Doherty

Field goals—Adams, J. Brown, Dolin, A. Brown, Beggs 2, Kummer 2, Kavanaugh 3, Dark 2, Doherty 2. Foul goals—Adams 22 out of 36, Kummer 17 out of 23. Referee—Geisler.

Civic League to Banquet.

The Civic League of Belle Vernon will hold its annual banquet at the Hotel Birmingham Tuesday evening, February 20.

Among The Passers

As a referee, Mister Geisler has little call to appear in fast company. His powers of observation are even more limited than his knowledge of the game, which is saying a whole lot. He was impartial enough Monday night, heaven knows, but was anything but master of the game.

Allie Brown made a star dribble down the floor in the second half and with about a thousand pounds in players' weight hanging to his shoulders tossed the ball through the netting.

Kummer's right hand shot from the side of the cage was a beauty and he received deserved applause. Kummer is the cleanest player and the best with Connellsville.

Dark was guilty of shoving, punching, hacking and using various other foul tactics on Jimsey Brown. Once in a while the referee saw them.

Doherty had a foul called on him for grabbing Captain Jack Adams in a too sticky grasp around the neck.

Beggs was discovered openly and with deliberate attempt holding Jimsey Brown by a half Nelson. Then when a foul was called he had the nerve to raise a kick.

On center Cavanaugh fouled time and time again, to be called down several times by Referee Geisler.

Herron played a star game. He snatched the ball from Coketown

JENKINS-ZELLERS NUPTIALS SAID

At the parsonage of St. Jerome's Catholic church on Saturday evening the ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Eva Zellers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Zellers and Clyde Jenkins was performed by Rev. W. D. Fries. Soon after the ceremony the couple left for Pittsburgh where they spent a couple of days before returning to Charleroi where they will make their home.

The bride is a popular young woman in society circles in Charleroi. The groom was formerly located in Monongahela but at present holds a position at the local plant of the Hussy-Binns Shovel company.

For the time being Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins will live at the Charleroi Hotel. A home is being fitted up for them on Crest avenue and within a few days they will go to housekeeping there.

MEMORIAL PROGRAM OF MUCH INTEREST TO LOCAL PEOPLE

Much interest is being manifested in the Francis Willard day meeting to be held at the Westington Avenue Presbyterian church Thursday evening by the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Charleroi, for which a pleasing program has been arranged.

Mrs. Ella George, of Beaver, the State W. C. T. U. president will be the chief speaker. She is a gifted woman and a good talker. Others who will make addresses are Mrs. Kohler, of Washington, the county superintendent of soldiers and sailors, and Mrs. E. G. Stanley. The latter will give a biography of Miss Willard. Two male quartets will sing and Mrs. John Duvall, of Monessen, will give two readings.

FIRST ARREST MADE UNDER ORDER OF MONESSEN BURGESS

In pursuance with his order issued last week that there should be no booze at weddings or celebrations of any kind, Burgess Daniel Reamer of Monessen had several people before him Monday charged with violation of the edict. He did not fine them, however, but after a severe tecturing discharged the party, it appearing evident that the rule had been broken through ignorance. The persons arrested were foreigners.

Magazine Hint.

When putting away old magazines in the attic, clip out the page which contains the table of contents and write the name of the magazine it belongs to and the month from which it was taken on the margin. Then any article can be referred to and the magazine and page found without any loss of time.

Among The Passers

players on occasions too numerous to mention. His bulky form was too set to be shoved with vigor.

Captain Jack Adams didn't get a single decent chance for a shot. Still he got a basket and that was during a mixup.

Dolin's shot from the side of the cage was a nice one.

Dark tried to pull away a queer stunt. When a foul was called and Adams was waiting to receive the ball on the foul line, the Coke captain yelled for it and he started dribbling down the floor to throw for a goal.

Jimsey Brown, like Captain Jack got practically no chance at the basket. His one in the first saved his record.

Woman and the Farm.

In defining woman's relation to the life of the farm, one needs but little reflection to become aware of the all-pervading quality of that relationship. Just as the monarch of France, when asked to define the state, exclaimed, "The state; I am the state." So might the farmer's wife, when questioned as to the life of the farm, respond, "I am the life of the farm."

SHOULD NOT MORTGAGE FUTURE TO BUILD ROADS

Judge McIlvaine Speaks to Grand Jury of Highways

AN IMPORTANT RULING

When Township Road is Approved County Assumes Entire Burden

Stating that it was not expedient to approve the building of county roads before the county has the funds to pay for them, Judge J. A. McIlvaine in charging the grand jury at Washington Monday in regard to petitions for the improvement of roads costing in the aggregate more than $500,000 gave a point of law that has not heretofore been considered in the improvement of county roads. This is that when the county approves the reconstruction of a road it becomes a county road, and the township is thus relieved of the care and repair of the road. As the county has approved permanent improvements, it cannot make temporary repairs, and as the township is relieved from the care of the road, the highway must remain unimproved until such time as the county can make the permanent improvements.

For this reason Judge McIlvaine states that the county has no right to mortgage the future, by approving road construction which cannot be made for lack of funds for many years hence. Such roads can neither be repaired by county or township, and this imposes an intolerable condition. Judge McIlvaine further stated that it is unfair for the court to approve roads that cannot be constructed until 15 or 20 years hence. He also stated that many of the petitioners were desirous to have roads improved because they passed by their property, but that should not influence action to the detriment of the economic welfare of the county and taxpayers.

Four roads were considered Monday. They were the Bentleyville-Ginger Hill, Finleyville-Gastonsville, McMurray and Bulger-Cherry Valley roads. Representatives from these various communities were heard.

The question of petitions for more county bridges will also be considered by the grand jury after the road petitions are disposed of.

TESTIMONY FILED IN DIVORCE CASES

The testimony in three divorce cases was filed for record with Prothonotary Lewis at Washington Monday. They are of the case of M. Jennie Sampson versus John W. Sampson of Washington, Ola Singleton versus Russell Singleton of Washington and Margaret Jane Dack versus George Alfred Dack of Carroll township.

Arrest Made for Shooting

Man Supposed to Have Fired Bullet at Terino, Placed Under Lock and Key

On the charge of shooting Marino Terino, Antonio Garosalo is in jail at Monessen, pending an information to be made by Terino. It is alleged that he with two or three other Italians went into the store of Terino Monday and on the pretense that they had come to buy something insulted the proprietor. Terino started out to look for a policeman and it is said one of the men pulled a gun and fired, shooting Terino in the foot. They are said to have fled and Garosalo was captured near Belle Vernon.

NO MORE BOOZE ON "BUMMER"

Prohibition to be Rule on Marianna Midnight Train

IS RIOT PREVENTIVE

There are to be no more hot times on the Marianna "bummer," that is the train up the Marianna and Ellsworth branch of the Pennsylvania railroad that leaves Monongahela at 10.45 each night. This is the train that the Monongahela merchants exercised their influence to have installed, as it gave passengers up the branch a chance to come to the town to do trading and get home the same night.

The crowds came all right, but a large element does not confine its purchases to groceries and dry goods. Many load up with booze, and the journey home is usually one of continuous riot and disorder. This is aggravated on the pay days and so many not only carried a package inside but loaded up with bottles and kegs and cases besides, that Supt. A. G. Mitchell of the Monongahela division has issued an order not to permit any one carrying packages of booze to ride the trains. The carrying of kegs, bottles and cases in the baggage car as for passengers, it is said, is also forbidden, and passengers are not permitted aboard who are visibly intoxicated.

For some time past Pennsylvania railroad detectives of this division have been assigned to the Marianna branch to ride on the "bummer" Saturdays and pay days in order to help the train men preserve order.

SURVEYORS BEGIN ON BENTLEYVILLE LINE

Start Preliminary Work on New Trolley Route Through Borough--Will Also Survey Connecting Link

Preliminary survey work was begun this morning at Bentleyville on the proposed new Westside Street railway route to lead through that borough. As rapidly as possible this part of the preliminary work will be done and then the survey made of the route leading from Charleroi to Bentleyville. When Bentleyville borough granted a franchise by ordinance to the Westside Street Railways company to build lines through the borough and maintain service it was stated that this spring if possible actual construction work would start. The presence of engineers on the ground confirms this statement. After the surveys are made a ceremony before even the first part of the construction of the new line can be gotten under way. It is proposed to start grading at Bentleyville and on the route to lead from here to Bentleyville at about the same time so that the entire line can be completed within the briefest possible period.

TELLS CONSTABLES BETTER LOOK AGAIN

Judge Doty in Westmoreland Determined Not to Permit Any Blindmen's Parade--Must Get the Information

Judge Doty of the Westmoreland county court, will have no blindmen's parades in connection with the constables' returns. At the meeting of the grand jury at Greensburg last week when the constables met to present their quarterly returns with nothing to report as usual when asked if there were any violations of the liquor laws in their respective districts, Judge Doty is said to have waxed exceedingly wrath. Stating that he knew better, and that letters had been received by the court complaining of such violations in various parts of the county, the judge ordered the constables to go back, get the information, and then appear and make the proper returns. Judge Doty also informed the constables that they are compelled by act of Assembly to make return of every person who sold liquor in their districts, licensed or unlicensed, and that a failure to do so carried with it a penalty of fine and imprisonment. He further stated that he proposed to see that the provisions of this act are enforced hereafter in the Westmoreland county courts.

CHORAL CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Will Give Concert Night Before Sunday School Convention Opens

PROF. DANIEL DIRECTOR

An organization of a choral union for a concert to be given previous to the Sunday School convention of the Washington county association here next June was effected at a meeting held in the M. E. church Monday evening. Arrangements were made to begin work immediately for the concert. Officers of the organization were elected as follows: President, Dr. C. C. Wright; vice president, Miss Mildred Lowstutter; secretary, Miss Helen Woodhall; treasurer, Prof. I. T. Daniel; chief accompanist, Miss May Barth; first assistant accompanist, Miss Elsie Crill; second assistant accompanist, Miss Bethel Bowman; third assistant accompanist Miss Leila Orange.

Prof. I. T. Daniel, music supervisor in the schools, had previously agreed to direct the choir, which it was arranged would start work rehearsing next Monday evening at the M. E. church. It is proposed to give a concert on the night preceding the opening of the Sunday School convention in the big tent for which a contract was recently closed by the executive committee of the district.

While making their returns to court last week the constables of Washington county have arranged for a convention at the county seat on February 24. These officers believe they do not receive large enough fees, and are particularly dissatisfied with their milage. This is six cents a mile and the constables believe they should receive at least ten cents. It is the intention to organize for the purpose of working for better conditions.

IMPOSES SENTENCE ON BOYS

Two Charleroi Youths Sent to Huntingdon Reformatory

COURT DISCHARGES ONE

Pleading guilty to a serious offense against morality in criminal court at Washington Monday George and Adam Patrick of Charleroi, aged 18 and 16 years respectively, were sentenced to the Huntingdon reformatory. George Zippay, who was indicted for the same offense, was released, the case having been nolle prossed. All the cases listed for trial Monday were disposed of before the court adjourned for the day.

Three cases set for trial were continued. They were the prosecution against Joseph Eberich of Donora, charged with resisting an officer and David F. Mathers, a constable of North Charleroi, charged with assault and battery and Charles Chester of Charleroi, charged with assault and battery. The three cases grew out of an effort on the part of Mathers, assisted by Chester to levy upon and take charge of a store of the defendant, Eberich at Donora. Louis Sibenski and Mary Snier of Donora pleaded guilty to crimes against morality. The man was sentenced to pay a fine of $25 and costs and undergo four months' imprisonment in the workhouse on one count, and on another he was fined $5 and costs and directed to pay the woman $2.50 a week for six years for the (Continued on second page.)

RACKS IN THE FOUNDATION.
What Thomas Carlyle termed
"racks in the Foundation," in describing conditions that led up to the French Revolution—that terrible luge of blood and fire that marked the greatest human epoch since the coming of Christ—are beginning to be perceived in the foundations of our own social edifice. Judge E. H.
Cary chairman of the executive committee of the United States Steel Corporation, expresses himself as convinced that the great unrest that prevails in this country may bring another deluge like the French revolution, and cause a "mob" to take changes unless the capitalists take the lead in a movement to better humanity. In an after dinner
speech recently Judge Gary said:
"There is a general feeling of unrest not only in the United States,
but through the entire world. Its causes, I believe, first from the fact that the means of communication between places have been steadily increasing; secondly, this feeling is due to the demagogue—whether he be a called statesman or a newspaper man—who is disposed to appeal to the prejudices of what he regards as
the masses, in order to advance his own particular interests.

"There are things being said openly nowadays that were said just before the French Revolution. There is grave danger, in my opinion, of this spark into a flame. And it is not to be understood in saying this as flying a flag of distress,
but the men of highest influence in this country take the lead in a movement to better humanity generally there will be at some time troubles, good or bad made by the hand."

It was a number of years before the mutterings that preceded the French Revolution came into the open. There are now just as sure-cracks in the foundation, and unless they are mended the whole solid super-structure will be endangered later on.

PENROSE SOUNDS ALARM.
United States Senator Boies Pen-
rose has sounded an alarm to the people of the country against possible political upheaval. Senator Penrose believes the interests of the entire country and especially the interests of Pennsylvania are menaced by the possible enactment of the Underwood tariff bill and he pleads
with the Republicans to get together
for a war against the vicious legislation. Among other things Senator Penrose says:
"The Underwood bill affects industries valued at billions of dollars
and employing more than a million workers. It is one of the most damning tariff bills planned to be passed by the Democratic House of Representatives all of which are not altogether unlikely to be passed by the Senate."
After reviewing the conditions which Senator Penrose regards as serious and dangerous he concludes:
"It is altogether possible that a political upheaval may be necessary to bring about a realization of this great danger by all American employers and employees."
The wage-earner and the wage-
payer is equally concerned. When before the Congressional Committee
last week, Charles M. Schwab said:
"After all my work and the investment of my fortune, I have never
taken a penny out of the industry
and have never paid a dividend, and if the proposed tariff is to be the law,
I repeat that I shall cash in. I haven't made sufficient profit to feel justified in taking money out of the industry."

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"I read with much amusement your account of 'how to secure wet goods
in a dry town.'" said a pioneer citizen a day or two ago. "I was one of the bunch at Washington that was mentioned in the 'Picked Up in Passing' column, when the Charleroi
crowd at court found cases of beer
that were mysteriously placed in their room—No. 16. As I only drank ice
tea the liquid refreshments did not concern me. However, there was a sequel to that story. 'The most of us
were witnesses on a case from the valley where a valley attorney and a Uniontown attorney fought a bitter
legal fight, which the valley attorney
lost out, and it was he who further instructed us in the modus operandi
of getting wet goods in a dry town.'
"We were packed up ready to start home at the end of the trial, when
in came the attorney to pay his respects to us. The last bottle of
'suds' had been consumed, and some of the bunch expressed their regrets
that there was nothing left for hospitality.
"How much time have you before you get home?"
"When told an hour yet, he beckoned to me, and following him we went to the local express office.
"Have you a package for—"
"—"he asked of a young lady in charge. She was not sure but would see. Calling a male attaché of the office the question was repeated.
"No package here for you," said
the young man. "But wait a moment.
Where was the package to be shipped
from?"
"From Wheeling," replied my legal friend.
"Just wait until I look," replied
the expressman. "The stuff that came in this morning hasn't been entered yet."
"Going to another room he returned with a package in his hand and
said:
"Here it is. C. O. D., $1.25
charges."
"This was paid, and returning to the room the porter was called and procured a bowl of sugar, a pitcher of hot water and some nutmeg, the package from Wheeling was made to disappear some congenial cheer.
"This happened 12 years or more
ago, and the valley attorney is no longer in this section. This modus operandi of the thirsty, I've been told, has also been abolished."

How the Doctor Got His Fee

"No daughter of mine shall ever marry a son of old Wildon's," thundered Francis Halbert's irate father. "A son isn't to blame for his father's mistakes," answered Francis. "You always maintain your disbelief in hereditary taints."

"In this case I believe that Clarence has or will inherit all his father's ways. He has never ever buried a patient, much less cured one."

"How can he when he hasn't the chance? They either send for old Dr. Corbin or take such good care of themselves that a doctor is a minus quantity in this town."

"Well, he has a quantity of nerve to ask for my daughter and that 'No' is final."

"But, father, didn't you marry mother in opposition to her family wishes?"

"Hush, child! Times were different in those days," said Mr. Halbert.

That evening Mrs. Halbert complained to her husband:

"Why are you so obstinate, try in case; never have you refused your daughter the smallest trifles, and now that this love has come into her life, you talk as if she were a great offense. Don't you notice how thin and languid she is looking? She is grieving herself to death."

"Over that Wilson fellow," insisted Mr. Halbert. "Send her to the seashore, she'll return rosy and gay. If she didn't see him every day she'd never think of that idiotic physician. He couldn't prescribe for my pet canary."

"He wouldn't," answered Mrs. Halbert. "Francis told me that after you spoke to him in that abrupt manner, he said he would never come near the house again until you sent for him."

Francis joined some friends at the seashore and from the tone of her letters, her father felt more than justified in having urged her to leave home.

On the fourth day the following telegram was received at the Halbert home:

"Am quarantined here. Bad case of diphtheria in hotel. Don't worry. Feel fine."

Mr. and Mrs. Halbert tried not to be anxious, but they could hardly wait the hour until the daily message arrived.

"Still quarantined," Mrs. Halbert read on the sixth day. Hotel physician takes every precaution. Not lonely."

"Put yourself under doctor's care. Do exactly as he says," Mr. Halbert wired his daughter.

It seemed from the rest of the telegrams that Francis was enjoying her enforced isolation and there evidently was no danger of contagion as the doctor watched her closely, was often her partner at bridge and accompanied her on long walks.

"He's most likely some old fatherly practitioner who took pity on her," commented her father. "If I had searched the world over could I have devised any better scheme for keeping Francis away from Wilson. Especially as she is enjoying herself in a first class hotel."

"Thank the doctor for his kindness," he wrote after he received word that Francis would leave on the following day. "Invite him to visit us on your return, when I will thank him in person and pay for his services whatever amount he states."

"Dear Father" was the answer a few hours later. "Dr. Wilson accompanies me home on your invitation to ask as payment for his services your consent to our marriage."

"Goodness! Gracious!" ejaculated the surprised father. "My patience is exhausted, but if he takes such good care of his patients that he is physician in a big hotel, I suppose I might as well give in. Otherwise Francis will most likely follow her parents' example and elope. There must be something in hereditary traits."

Airgrams Sent by Aviators.

A very remarkable result was that attending the effort of two French officers who succeeded in sending wireless messages a considerable distance while flying about in the vicinity of Paris. They were maneuvering in aeroplanes the other day in the neighborhood of Rambouillet and communicated with the Eiffel tower, 30 miles distant, a feat of great importance. From this foothold greater results can be attained and future possibilities, in the event of a war, can hardly be predicted by those having the most vivid power of imagination. Had Napoleon been possessed of such a distinct advantage he might have saved the day at Waterloo and thus perpetuated the map of Europe as he had so vastly changed it instead of becoming a prisoner in exile to mourn on the island of St. Helena the loss of his great power to make or unmake nations.

The Obscure Expert.

"The people who do the real work are not always conspicuous," said the ready-made philosopher.

"That's right," replied the man with the frivolous hat. "The best photographer of a plain photograph is the one who gets the camera and never gets into the picture."

If She Had Returned Earlier—

"Why, John, how neat you have kept the flat while I have been away!"

"Yes, dear; see that blister I got on my hand while sweeping and dusting this morning?"

GOWNS MADE SIMPLE

WEDDING GARMENTS ARE NOT MARKED BY SPLENDOR.

Many Novelties Have Been Evolved by the Modistes to Give Distinctive Styles to the Dresses of the Season.

Of the making of wedding gowns there is no end at this moment, and all tastes seem to have agreed upon simple fabrics, whatever the grandeur or simplicity of the gown. No texture can be used that falls stiffly, so if there is a court train this, too, is of the softest satin of silk, lined and padded for both.

Satin charmeuse, which is a smooth-faced, crushable material of uncommon beauty, is much used, this lending itself to a certain maiden sweetness that seems most appropriate for brides. Every species of lace is used with this fabric and with all others, and used in vast quantities, too, and if the dress texture is diaphanous—for there are many frocks entirely of lace, or of chiffon or embroidered gauze—there may be narrow garlands of lace or ribbon.

bodice and skirt. Chalk-white is a new tone for altar materials, and a gauze in this may be entirely without aster.

In striving for new and novel cuts, same fashion has been a little crazy, must be confessed, though despite promptings of common sense some her madcap ideas seem delightfully active. For instance, a wedding dress lately made for a bride-elect had a train in two distinct points and one of these longer than the other! The train was cut up in a V in the back, the two side pieces were then gathered and trimmed each with a big flat rosette. Yet funny as it was, this was most pleasing, though the idea is not one likely to be followed by many brides.

Occasionally, a bride decides upon a one-piece frock for traveling, and though the choice is by no means popular such costumes go best with the dashing long coats which are so useful for the honeymoon trip, and which look so well on many slim young figures.

One such traveling frock was made after the design illustrated which depicts a dress of novelty wool in blue and black, trimmed with a bit of old red velvet and buttons covered with the same.

The tucked bodice of this costume is very pretty and youthful and the rear view of the style shows how easily a high guimpe and longer undersleeves will transform it into a prim street effect. But if made high it would be well to have the stock adjustable, for the collarless effect is somewhat more dressy for the train or boat dinners, when a little fixing up is in order and it is not possible to change the costume.

The jabot frill of the bodice is of cream embroidered batiste, and the skirt model with its narrow front and back panel is one used as much for the house as for the street. Indeed, the pretty model is adapted to a number of little frocks in various materials, and if the bride marries late in October, there is still time to pick up useful bargains in pretty summer materials. All of the darker foulards and thin silks and the cotton and wool veilings in pale or quiet colors would develop charming house gowns in this style.

Books on a Wash Dress.

When using hooks and eyes to fasten a wash dress, try sewing the hooks on the under flap and the eyes on the upper, instead of the usual way. You will find that with this method the lap of your gown that shows most can be ironed flat and will have no unsightly humps where the hooks are underneath.

Consulting Mme. Fantella

"Again and again I've addressed you," remarked Grace, "while you've been staring and gazing at that calendar. Aren't there enough days in the month to suit you?"

"Certainly, but this is the 15th of October—one of vital importance to me."

"What's so special about it?"

"About three weeks ago," answered Juliette, her face beaming with smiles and her eyes glistening with expectancy. "I consulted a clairvoyant, Madame Fantella."

"Madame Fantella used to sew for us," interrupted Grace.

"Not this one. She is simply marvelous, predicts marvellous events and gives you the most wonderful dates."

"For instance?" asked Grace, dubiously.

"At the age of sixty-nine I will meet with a serious illness, but will recover."

"I hope you will have recovered your senses by that time and not believe in every fake fortune teller or palmist."

"I'm not superstitious, but on this very date she prophesied that a tall dark young man would invite me to the theater and come what may, under no condition should I refuse, as he would propose."

"Who is the tall dark, mysterious gent?"

"Why, Charles Charleton, of course, whose invitation I accepted immediately for tonight."

"Astounding! Surprising! Charles always seemed a confirmed bachelor to me," exclaimed Grace. "He is so attentive to all the girls."

"Little did I think I would be the fortunate one. How the girls will envy me, the wife of such a handsome, cultured, clever lawyer," said Juliette in a delighted, blissful tone.

When Charles called for Juliette that evening, he found her waiting for him looking as pretty as a hyacinth in white. She greeted him more cordially than ever and seemed to listen intently to even the most trivial remark. All the time she was pondering. "How when and where will he say those glorious words that can so easily be answered in one little word of three letters?"

"You seem radiant with happiness," Charles commented.

"I'm always happy when I'm with you," she answered as they left the theater, where she had not heard one word of the play.

"Then I'm all the sorrier," commented Charles, "to tell you that next week I intend moving to New York."

"Doesn't he think I'd move away?" wondered Juliette. "Why, I'd go to the depths of Africa with the man I cared for." Aloud, she managed to ask, "Why?"

"A well-known legal firm want a single young man to look after one department of their business and I have accepted their offer, which means a successful future."

"Accept my congratulations," said Juliette. "But you will not always be single?"

"For a long time to come," explained Charles. "That's the reason I'm nice to all the girls, so none can take my attentions seriously."

"Not even if you admired the girl greatly," asked Juliette, fast losing confidence in Madame Fantella.

"No, because my mother on her death-bed exacted a promise from me that I would not marry until my sisters were married. As the kids are only seven and nine years now, my benedict days are in the dim future."

Charles was so interested in telling about his run of affairs and prospects that he failed to notice how listless and weary Juliette was.

"I shall never forget what a pleasant evening I spent," he said as he left her.

"I'll never forget it either," thought Juliette, tearing the calendar to shreds. "That I have wasted three weeks of my life thinking, hoping and dreaming of that conceited fool! Madame Fantella is certainly wonderful in predicting occurrences that don't occur."

Eccentric Work Basket.

There are workbags made of turtles. Could anything be odder? And yet they are not unattractive, queer as they sound. The shell of the turtle is lined with some gay silk, and the tail is pulled over and inserted in the mouth, then used as a handle. They make nice sewing baskets, and will undoubtedly appeal to the lovers of the eccentric.

Hard to Live Up To.

An example of greatness thrust upon one is an eleven-year-old boy living in Hamilton avenue, Yonkers. His name is George Washington. He was born on Christmas day and christened on Easter. The lad sings in the choir of St. Andrew's Memorial church.

To Cool Ship's Magazines.

Considerable attention continues to be given to the cooling of magazines on board naval vessels. Various types of refrigerating apparatus have been examined by the ordnance experts. On the new battleships authorized at the last session of congress there will be installed six refrigerating machines, four of which will be used for cooling the magazines.

BACKACHE NOT A DISEASE

But a Symptom, a Danger Signal Which Every Woman Should Heed.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Read about Mrs. Woodall's experience.

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since. I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. OLLIE WOODALL, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham, Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

ZEMO MAKES ASTONISHING ECZEMA CURES

"We Prove It."

Every day ZEMO gives relief and cures men, women and children in every city and town in America, whose skins are on fire with torturing ECZEMA rashes and other itching, burning, scaly, and crusted skin and scalp humors.

ZEMO and ZEMO (ANTISEPTIC) SOAP, two refined preparations will give you such quick relief that you will feel like a new person.

We give you three reasons why we recommend and endorse ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP for all skin and scalp eruptions.

1st. They are clean, scientific preparations that give universal satisfaction and are pleasant and agreeable to use at all times.

2nd. They are not experiments, but are proven cures for every form of skin or scalp affections whether on infants or grown persons.

3rd. They work on a new principle. They do not glaze over the surface, but they penetrate to the seat of the trouble and draw the germ life from underneath the skin and destroy it. In this way a complete cure is effected in any case of SKIN OR SCALP ERUPTION.

Stubborn Colds May Lead to Consumption

Did you ever have a cold that would not let go; a cough that persisted, that prevented sleep, and made waking hours miserable? Eckman's Alternative is the proper remedy in such cases. Perhaps some simple medicine may be effective where it is only a tickling in the throat; but when your chest is sore and simple remedies don't answer—then take Eckman's Alternative. Neglect often leads to more serious trouble, a case in point follows.

"Gentlemen: In July, 1905, I first noticed the conditions that showed I had Consumption. I lost weight rapidly; had a hollow cough, hemorrhages and very severe night sweats. My brother recommended Eckman's Alternative. In the Fall of 1905 I began to take it. At this time I am perfectly well and robust. My appetite is good and my weight has increased from 110 to 140 pounds. Not a trace of my old trouble remains. I will gladly express the merits of this medicine to anyone."

(Signed) M. L. GERHARDT.

Eckman's Alternative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in rebuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet of cured cases and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for more evidence. For sale by all leading druggists and W. F. Hennings, Charleroi, Pa.

A CORROBORATION

Of Interest to Charleroi Readers.

For months Charleroi citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Charleroi residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elapsed if personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? No stronger proof of merit can be had than cures that have stood the test of time. The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Charleroi reader.

Mrs. Bruce Ray, 121 Prospect avenue, Charleroi, Pa., says: "I can speak as highly of Doan's Kidney Pills at the present time as when I publicly recommended them in 1907. At that time I told of the great benefit a member of my family received from the use of this remedy, procured at Piper Bros. Drug Store and on several occasions since then, the person referred to has taken it with the best of results."

MUD ISLANDERS WIN STRUGGLE FROM CHERUBS

Rough Tactics Used to Good Effect in Acquiring Victory

REFEREE GETS LOST

In a melee that would have been creditable to a football game for roughness the alleged basketball five from Mud Island, sometimes called Connellsville for politeness sake, claimed a victory from the Charleroi Cherubs Monday night. The fracas was pulled off with a certain individual by the name of Geisler in the role of superintendent. When the war was over the score stood with the Mud Islanders representing with 20 points to their credit and the Cherubs consoling themselves with 30 points.

A new lineup was presented by the Coketown aggregation, Dark going to guard and Beggs being sent to forward. The team usually puts up a rough game but this change if anything made it worse. However Jimsey Brown scored first with his only basket of the game, and Jacky Adams followed with a foul. Kummer brought in a couple of foul throws and Adams scored another. A field goal by Kummer, a side wheel affair for which he received a round of applause brought the score up to a tie at four each. Connellsville assumed the lead within the next two minutes and continued leading until the last of the first half when the score was 14 to 13.

For a time after the second half opened the Cherubs occupied the lead and the fans were happy. The moments of grace were limited, for Connellsville forged ahead, entirely by tactics that the referee either could not see, would not see, or refused to mention. The score was tied at 20, 21 and 22. Connellsville acquired the lead again by a field goal of Dark's and kept advancing right along, the open game of the Cherubs having little effect upon the rough going Muds. Cavanaugh threw the last field goal and Adams scored on a foul when time was called. The lineup:

Charleroi 30	Connellsville 39.
Adams.....F.....	Beggs J. Brown.....F.....
Dolin.....C.....	Kummer Dolin.....C.....
A. Brown.....G.....	Kavanaugh A. Brown.....G.....
Herron.....G.....	Dark Doherty.....G.....

Field goals—Adams, J. Brown, Dolin, A. Brown, Beggs 2, Kummer 2, Kavanaugh 3, Dark 2, Doherty 2, Foul goals—Adams 22 out of 36, Kummer 17 out of 23. Referee—Geisler.

Civic League to Banquet.

The Civic League of Belle Vernon will hold its annual banquet at the Hotel Birmingham Tuesday evening, February 20.

JENKINS-ZELLERS NUPTIALS SAID

At the parsonage of St. Jerome's Catholic church on Saturday evening the ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Eva Zellers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Zellers and Clyde Jenkins was performed by Rev. W. D. Fries. Soon after the ceremony the couple left for Pittsburgh where they spent a couple of days before returning to Charleroi where they will make their home.

The bride is a popular young woman in society circles in Charleroi. The groom was formerly located in Monongahela but at present holds a position at the local plant of the Hussy-Binns Shovel company.

For the time being Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins will live at the Charleroi Hotel. A home is being fitted up for them on Crest avenue and within a few days they will go to housekeeping there.

MEMORIAL PROGRAM OF MUCH INTEREST TO LOCAL PEOPLE

Much interest is being manifested in the Francis Willard day meeting to be held at the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church Thursday evening by the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Charleroi, for which a pleasing program has been arranged.

Mrs. Ella George, of Beaver, the State W. C. T. U. president will be the chief speaker. She is a gifted woman and a good talker. Others who will make addresses are Mrs. Kohler, of Washington, the county superintendent of soldiers and sailors, and Mrs. E. G. Stanley. The latter will give a biography of Miss Willard. Two male quartets will sing and Mrs. John Duvall, of Monessen, will give two readings.

FIRST ARREST MADE UNDER ORDER OF MONESSEN BURGESS

In pursuance with his order issued last week that there should be no booze at weddings or celebrations of any kind, Burgess Daniel Reamer of Monessen had several people before him Monday charged with violation of the edict. He did not fine them, however, but after a severe lecturing discharged the party, it appearing evident that the rule had been broken through ignorance. The persons arrested were foreigners.

Magazine Hint.

When putting away old magazines in the attic, clip out the page which contains the table of contents and write the name of the magazine it belongs to and the month from which it was taken on the margin. Then any article can be referred to and the magazine and page found without any loss of time.

Among The Passers

As a referee, Mister Geisler has little call to appear in fast company. His powers of observation are even more limited than his knowledge of the game, which is saying a whole lot. He was impartial enough Monday night, heaven knows, but was anything but master of the game.

Allie Brown made a star dribble down the floor in the second half and with about a thousand pounds in players' weight hanging to his shoulders tossed the ball through the netting.

Kummer's right hand shot from the side of the cage was a beauty and he received deserved applause. Kummer is the cleanest player and the best with Connellsville.

Dark was guilty of shoving, punching, hacking and using various other foul tactics on Jimsey Brown once in a while the referee saw them.

Doherty had a foul called on him for grabbing Captain Jack Adams in a too sticky grasp around the neck.

Beggs was discovered openly and with deliberate attempt holding Jimsey Brown by the neck.

When a foul was called he had the nerve to raise a kick.

On center Cavanaugh fouled time and time again, to be called down several times by Referee Geisler.

Herron played a star game. He snatched the ball from Cokeville players on occasions too numerous to mention. His bulky form was too set to be shoved with vigor.

Captain Jack Adams didn't get a single decent chance for a shot. Still he got a basket and that was during a mixup.

Dolin's shot from the side of the cage was a nice one.

Dark tried to pull away a guest stunt. When a foul was called and Adams was waiting to receive the ball on the foul line, the Coke captain yelled for it and he started dribbling down the floor to throw for a goal.

Woman and the Farm.
In defining woman's relation to the life of the farm, one needs but little reflection to become aware of the all-pervading quality of that relationship. Just as the monarch of France, when asked to define the state, exclaimed, "The state; I am the state." So might the farmer's wife, when questioned as to the life of the farm, respond, "I am the life of the farm."
